Dear Fairgoers:

Welcome to the Middlesex County Fair – a tradition that, thanks to you, continues to bring together thousands of residents from the tristate area each year for a week of summer fun! This year we are celebrating 80 years in Middlesex County. Over the decades the fair has been held, countless community volunteers and local businesses have worked together to bring you closer to our county's agricultural heritage, all while offering our famous schedule of rides, food, craft vendors, entertainers, bands, and home arts competitions. For many area residents, this is the kind of unique event where young adults, parents, and grandparents have been coming together every year since they were children. Around 85,000 people join in the festivities each summer, and, thanks to your participation, we are one step closer to bringing even more of our neighbors and friends together. Stop in our Antique Storage Building (the large red barn) and see all of the antique farm equipment obtained from the New Jersey Museum of Agriculture. As you walk the grounds this year, be sure to look for our volunteers and let them know what you think. We want to hear from you!

On behalf of the board of trustees and the volunteers of this great organization, I hope you enjoy your visit!

Yours in Middlesex County,

Alan M. Habiak
